

BISHOP COLTON IS CONSECRATED

Pallium Conferred Upon the New Administrator of Buffalo Diocese by Archbishop Farley at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

SERMON DELIVERED BY A COLLEGE CLASSMATE.

Bishop M'Faul, Who Attended St. Francis Xavier's with the New Bishop, Urges Religious Teaching in Schools.

The Rev. Charles H. Colton, for nearly twenty years pastor of St. Stephen's Church, was today consecrated Roman Catholic Bishop of Buffalo, N. Y. The consecration ceremonies were conducted in St. Patrick's Cathedral in the presence of several thousand persons, which included over 600 priests and other dignitaries of the church.

The scene inside the Cathedral was one of unusual brilliancy. The decorations were of red and white and flags were numerous. Archbishop Farley, seated on his throne, was garbed in purple. He had as his deacons of honor Fathers Edwards and Connerly. The Archbishop celebrated the solemn pontifical mass, being assisted by Mgr. Mooney, Vicar-General.

Others who assisted in the ceremonial were: Masters of Ceremonies, Fathers McCabe and Minton; Ministers of the Wine, Fathers Cronin and O'Dwyer; Ministers of the Bread, Fathers Cassidy and Curry; Ministers of the Candles, Fathers Waters and Lynch; Assistant Consecrator, Bishop McQuade, of Rochester; Deacons of the Mass, Fathers Lomenzo, Cornick and Heywood; Thurifer and Boat, Father M. Aylward; Father J. Aylward; Minister of the Altar, Father Thomas J. Waise; Minister of the Crozier, Father D. Kierman; Minister of the Book, Father J. Donoghue; Reader of the Bulls, Father M. J. Lavelle.

The procession of clergy from the episcopal residence to the Cathedral was viewed by thousands. Bishop Colton was escorted by Bishop McDonnell, of Brooklyn, and Bishop McQuade, of Rochester.

Among the high dignitaries were: Archbishop Quigley, of Chicago; Bishops Ludden, of Syracuse; Burke, of Albany; O'Connor, of Newark; Foley, of Detroit; and Monsignor O. D'Ooka, of San Luis Potosi, Mexico.

Sermon to the New Bishop.

The sermon was delivered by Bishop M'Faul, of Trenton, who said in part: "We have just witnessed the conferring of this sacrament, that sublime act of religion whereby, the simple priest is raised to the exalted position of a Bishop and receives the grace to perform the duties of his office, among which are the multiplication of the sacraments of Christ and the perpetuation of the priesthood for the building up, the continuance and expansion of the Christian Church."

"However perfectly the bishop may exemplify the episcopal qualities enumerated by St. Paul, if he have not the gift of leadership, the fruits of his ministry will not be abundant. There are many live questions in our country wherein this leadership is required. There is the educational problem. It must be solved. The public schools as at present constituted are detrimental to Church and State. Eminent non-Catholic educators are gradually perceiving that intellectual cultivation has no effect in arresting the sources of evil in the human heart; that it alters the direction of crime, but not its amount." Allison Hist., vol. 1, chap. 1.

Teaching in Church Not Enough.

"Teaching religion in the church and the home is not sufficient; the absence of such teaching in the school is rapidly leading youth into indifference and thus dechristianizing America."

"Divorce is an evil he must endeavor to exterminate, root and branch. It is the destroyer of the home and family, the corruptor of morals, the curse and the disgrace of the nation."

"Socialism has made giant strides among the laboring classes, owing partly to the brainy display of luxury and extravagance by the wealthy, and the conflict between labor and capital. The Bishop must conduct his flock along the lines of Christian socialism, show the impossibility of a panacea for the ills of life. Most modern evils spring from 'man's inhumanity to man.' They can be remedied only by a return to the principles of Christianity. Rich and poor, the capitalist and the laborer, must do 'unto others as they would that they should do to them.'"

"There is also the care of the multitude rushing to our shores. They must be provided with priests, churches and schools, otherwise many of them, as well as their descendants, will be lost to the faith."

Words to His Old Friend.

"And now, dear friend of my youth and ripe years, you are the third from the class of '73 in St. Francis Xavier's College to be called of God to the mitre and crozier. When Bishop McDonnell, you and I sat at the feet of our Jesuit professor, the beloved Father Cassidy, we little thought of having the control of all the churches."

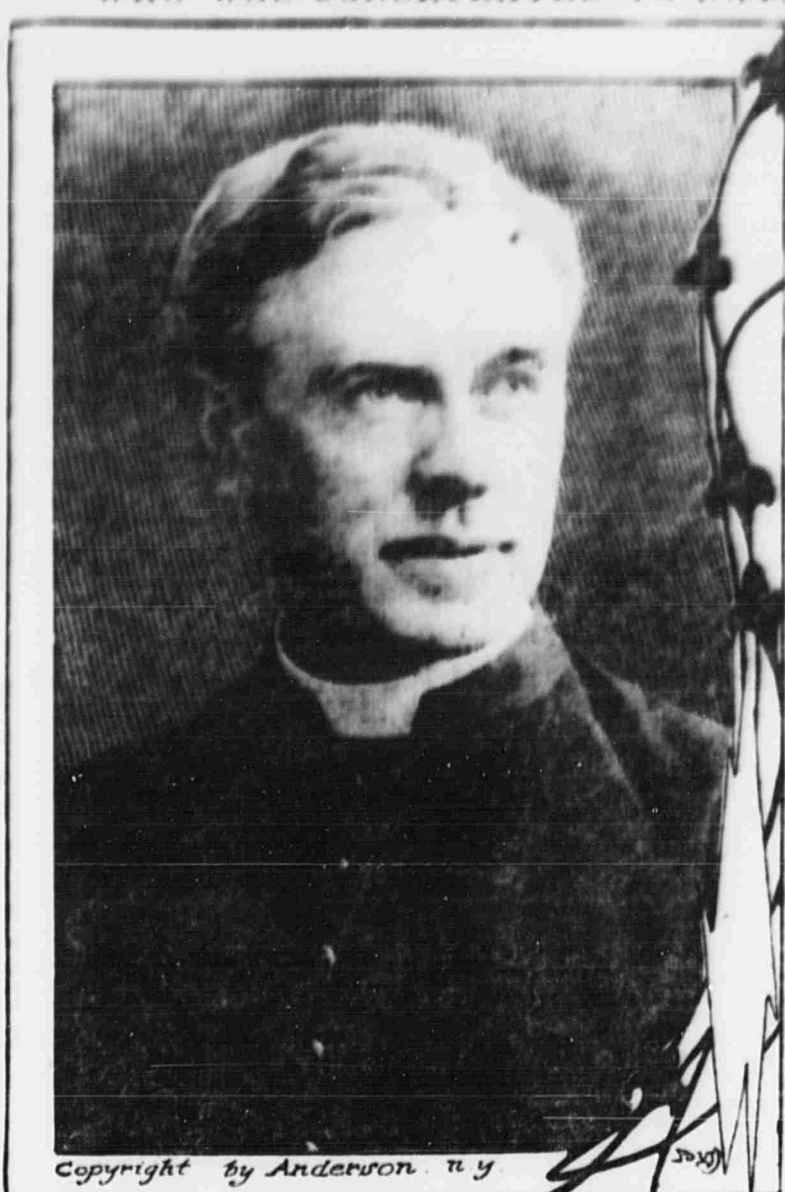

"Go forth, then, courageously in the power of the divine commission and rule over the fair diocese of Buffalo."

A committee from Buffalo consisting of the Revs. W. F. Lively, L. A. Grace, P. J. Conroy, H. P. Piper, J. S. Maye, R. F. Walters, J. B. O'Brien and J. Elder were in attendance and will escort Bishop Colton to his new home to-morrow morning.

FOUND DEAD IN THE RIVER.

The body of a man about forty years old was found floating off the foot of East Thirty-fourth street to-day and taken to the Morgue. The man was about five feet eight inches tall and weighed 160 pounds. His hair was dark and he was smooth shaven. He wore a black coat and trousers, black striped shirt and white undershirts. There was nothing in his pockets to identify his identity.

THOUGHT WEDDED LIFE TOO LONG

Mrs. Callahan Says Husband Told Her Five Years Was Enough for a Man to Care for a Woman.

Mrs. Mary A. Callahan to-day applied to Justice Amend, in Part L, of the Supreme Court, for alimony and counsel fees pending her action against her husband, Owen Callahan, for a separation on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment.

The couple were married at Matteawan, N. Y., Feb. 28, 1888, and have five children. In his argument Mr. Hummel said that Mrs. Callahan's affidavit showed that her husband had told her on numerous occasions that he was a member of the Order of the Knights of Columbus, "and he could kill her at any time, and that nothing could be done to him."

In June, 1900, Mrs. Callahan swears that her husband pushed her out of their house at 2 o'clock in the morning when she was attired only in her night clothes, and that she was obliged to sleep on the bare floor of the vestibule all night. Sometimes he would give her $10 a week for household expenses and at other times would give her nothing. She says he told her five years was long enough for a man to take care of one woman.

After many months of inhuman treatment Mrs. Callahan became so sick, "run down and wholly broken up," both in mind and body that she was compelled to go to the State Hospital at Poughkeepsie, where she was confined for ten months, the doctors fearing to let her return to live with defendant, because of his treatment of her.

Callahan enters a general denial of his wife's statements, and Justice Amend reserved decision.

HUSBAND WASN'T AS ADVERTISED

He Got $779 from Julia Reis, Made a Date for the Wedding and Has Not Been Seen Since.

Hanging around Police Headquarters hoping to see the man who deceived and robbed her brought in a prisoner is Julia Reis, a pretty German girl of twenty-four. She has reached the sad conclusion that love's young dream as reached through the advertising columns isn't all that it looks to be in type.

Julia lives in Thirty-seventh street, between Second and Third avenues. She worked contentedly in a Broadway restaurant until Aug. 10, when she noticed the ad. of a young man who wanted to marry a girl who had a little something which would help start them in housekeeping.

A meeting was arranged, and when Julia saw the Lotherio of the linerage she was willing to admit that he was just as advertised.

He began taking a deep interest in her from the moment she told him that she had $779.

He took her over to Newark and showed her where she could put it—a pretty cottage out Clinton avenue, beyond the street car line. He said the cottage was his, and for proof carried the key in his pocket. He told her that he worked in the baggage department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., and that his name was Charles Sadler. Everything looked straight to the girl, and she agreed to meet him last Wednesday and be married by an Alderman in the City Hall. They met at No. 150 Broadway, an office building. The young man, after inducing Julia to let him take charge of her fortune, $779, made an excuse to go upstairs and told her to wait for him. She might have been waiting yet.

Nothing is known of "Sadler" in Newark. He obtained the key to the cottage from an agent, saying that he thought of renting the place.

WIFE DRANK ACID AFTER A QUARREL

Ran from Room for Carbolic Acid Bottle and Before Her Husband Could Stop Her Had Drained Its Contents.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, of No. 154 Newark street, Hoboken, is dying in St. Mary's Hospital, that city, as a result of drinking carbolic acid to-day, after a quarrel with her husband.

Mrs. Wilson was married to Frank Wilson, of Hoboken, a year ago, after a romantic meeting. She was insulted by a number of hoodlums while walking alone a country road, and Wilson went to her rescue. Three days later they were married.

Lately Wilson had financial difficulties, and frequent domestic quarrels followed. Early to-day, at the close of a quarrel, the young woman suddenly left the room, returning a moment later with a bottle of carbolic acid, which she drained before her husband could reach her.

MADE MERRY IN MR. ARNOLD'S HOUSE

The Hour Being Midnight, and Mr. Arnold and His Family Away, the Police Gathered in the Revelers.

THREE YOUTHS AND A GIRL.

Said in 30 of Respectable Families—They Insist That Mr. Arnold's Son Gave Them the Keys and Told Them to Enjoy Themselves.

Three wild youths and a girl, the Police found them in Mr. Arnold's house at No. 34 Jefferson avenue, Wilkes-Barre, twenty-two years old, of No. 42 Jefferson avenue, and William A. Sullivan, twenty years old, of No. 28 classed avenue. The young woman described herself as Gertrude Hopkins, of No. 42 Washington avenue. The young men were all well dressed and are said by the police to be sons of wealthy families.

At midnight Saturday the police of the Gates avenue station were informed that burglars were carousing in Mr. Arnold's home. They hurried thither and found the young woman and her three companions seated before an elaborate spread of the good things which the house afforded.

The young men said that the keys to Mr. Arnold's home had been given to them by Chris Arnold, a young son of the merchant, who told them to go as far as they liked with the wine cellar. The Magistrate will endeavor to secure the presence of young Arnold at the examination of the prisoners.

Three accidents on the Third Avenue Elevated and the Fourth Avenue Road put out of commission during morning rush hours by simultaneous accidents.

At the same time a fire on a down-town train blew out between the Canal street and Manhattan square stations, and all downtown trains were halted with people going to business were blocked as far as Ninth street.

So long was the delay that many passengers left the trains and walked along the passageway to the nearest station.

The south-bound Fourth Avenue surface cars were also at a standstill, the fuse on a car near Canal street having blown out, and the whole line as far north as Fourteenth street was filled with stalled cars.
